ANOTHER FULL CROP YEAR

The U. S. agricultural department is going ahead with plans for full production on the farms in 1949. The 90 per cent parity guarantee will apply on major crops through 1949. After that a flexible parity plan is scheduled to take effect, dropping the guarantee to as low as 60 per cent, but the administration is moving to raise the figure.

If weather is favorable through 1949, we will finish the year with huge surpluses and will be hard put to find storage space, especially for corn. If on top of that unemployment increases, the price declines may be very sharp and the government may put out two billion dollars to make good its farm price guarantees. Already it is paying out money on corn.

But as long as people are hungry it seems a shame to curtail production in this country. We could stand more crop rotation and soil conservation; the peak production of the last year can't safely continue, but a policy of sharp curtailment doesn't make sense when there is so much hunger in the world.

POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS TEMPT WASHINGTON BUDGET REVIEWERS

"In the person of Harry Truman," Defense Secretary James Forrestal told the National Press Club in Washington, "I have seen the most rocklike example of civilian control that the world has ever witnessed."

The secretary was speaking in reference to the military budget. We won't guess whether his extravagant remark was meant as a compliment or not. But it was a commendation, whatever the intent. For the civilian head of our government legally and rightly controls our military establishment.

The President's budget message put military expenditures for fiscal 1950 at $14,268,000,000. The three services first asked $30,000,000,000. The final figure they sent the Bureau of the Budget was $16,900,000,000. So it is clear that Mr. Truman took a firm stand with the Department of Defense.

That $14,000,000,000 figure represents one of the President's major decisions for the coming year. It was a fateful decision which contained his answer to the problem of whether the government is to devote more attention to a program of domestic improvement, or whether it is to put the country on a near-war footing.

Now it is right and necessary that Congress review Mr. Truman's decision and determine whether it will grant his request for defense funds. The task is as difficult as it is important, and it is the minimum duty of the lawmakers to undertake it in a nonpartisan spirit. But there is always a temptation to raise them in an effort to exploit political advantage and increase political divisions, rather than to think always of strengthening the country at home and abroad to the greatest possible extent.

Both Mr. Forrestal and the service secretaries under him may have increased that temptation. It is their right to state their opinions and to press them. But it seems to us that their differences should be settled first in the Defense Department and then in the Cabinet. After all, Mr. Forrestal is an assistant and subordinate of the President just as Secretaries Royall, Sullivan and Symington are assistants and subordinates of Mr. Forrestal.

It might seem that if these assistants are willing to remain in their jobs they should be willing to abide by the ultimate decision in the Executive Department. But they can't give up. Mr. Forrestal, in his Washington speech, was still plugging for a 70-group Air Force and an 837,000-man Army. Air Secretary Symington is asking that the $800,000,000 Mr. Truman requested for universal military training be transferred to his department.

Maybe they are right, but they lost their case "to a rock-like example of civilian control." It is now up to Congress to decide. In its serious job Congress might be less tempted to take political advantage of differences at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue if these members of Mr. Truman's official family showed a little more family unity.

Two Under Indictment Enter Pleas Of Guilty4-H Leaders Will Be Honored At Luncheon

Two men against whom indictments were returned by the February grand jury entered pleas of guilty in circuit court Wednesday morning, while attorneys were appointed to represent two other defendants. One man under indictment for larceny of a car entered a plea of innocent.

Judge L. E. Wilhite received a plea of guilty from Paul T. Reynolds, charged with forgery. Reynolds made a motion for probation, which was referred to the probate officer for investigation and report.

A plea of guilty was entered by

Fernard McPike, accused of robbery,

and he also made a motion for probation. McPike is alleged to have been one of two men who struck and

robbed Emil Turner on North West street.

Lester L. Pearson, under indictment as the alleged accomplice of McPike in the robbery, did not enter a plea. Pearson asked the appointment of an attorney to handle his case, after which the court appointed Attorney Theodore

Rammelkamp to represent him.

Joseph F. Reddish of Winchester,

facing a charge of confidence game,

requested that counsel be appointed.

The court named Attorney Edward

J. Flynn to represent Reddish, who is accused of having secured possession of a 1947 Studebaker car

from the Walker Motor Company

through misrepresentation. Reddish was arrested several weeks ago at Beloit, Kansas.

Waited Lee Rhodes pleaded innocent to a charge of larceny of an automobile when he was arraigned before Judge Wilhite. Rhodes is accused of taking a car from the Tom

Cornish used car garage and driving

it to a town in Iowa, where he was arrested by the sheriff.

State's Attorney Albert Hall was present at the arraignment of the defendants under indictment.

Red Cross Aids24,000 In Midwest*During January

More than 24,000 persons in eight disaster-stricken midwest states were fed, sheltered, brought medical aid or otherwise aided by the American Red Cross from Jan. 2 through Feb. 3, according to compilations in blizzard, flood, tornado and ice disasters made at midwestern Red Cross headquarters in St. Louis. Largest numbers of disaster victims receiving Red Cross help were in Nebraska where five blizzards in January all but paralyzed normal life, and in Arkansas, where floods and a seven-county tornado caused great misery and need for prompt Red Cross action. Almost $370,000 has been allocated as date for emergency relief and rehabilitation of disaster victims, most of it on behalf of the seven Arkansas counties struck by the Jan. 3 tornado.

Special commendation is made for the aggression and intelligence with which the 99 chapters involved attacked their unprecedented disaster

problems. In Warren, Ark., for example, the chapter and neighboring chapters were on the scene of the tornado within 30 minutes after the

voracious twister had passed; rescued,

arranged for shelters, and directed

medical aid to victims while parts of damaged buildings still swayed

dangerously in the high winds.

In western states struck by successive blizzards, scores of storm-trapped

persons literally owe their lives to prompt organization of rescue squads

by Red Cross chapters, working together with army air and ground

forces, the civil air patrol, state highway department, and pilots of pri-

ately owned planes in an all-out

team. The same fine work prevails

for the Arkansas-Missouri-Illinois

floods where the usual hard work of flood relief was made yet more difficult by near-freezing temperatures.

The January series of disasters has called on the Red Cross for aid to the greatest number of persons in any similar period since 1937 when the Ohio-Mississippi floods devastated

large sections of various states and put hundreds of thousands into shelters.

Duke Gets His Tractor

Duke Thomas bought a farm with the money he'd saved in the Service, but he couldn't get a tractor. He needed it badly, but was tenth on the local dealer's list.

"Tell you what," old man Peters says. "If those nine fellows ahead of you agree, you'll get the next one I get in." "No, thanks," says Duke. "I'll just take my turn."

But old Peters mails out nine postcards. And the other day he tells Duke his tractor will be in next week. "I simply wrote the facts to the fellows ahead of you. They decided it."

Adult Education Classes Attract Large Attendance

There are 103 adults entered in the five special education classes offered by the Jacksonville schools. City Superintendent D. R. Blodgett reported to the board Tuesday night.

Dr. Blodgett said he considered the enrollment "very good. And the students are enthusiastic." Classes will run another six weeks.

The typing class attracted the greatest number. Altogether 32 men and women are learning to operate a typewriter. Twenty-two persons are studying advanced phases of clothing design, manufacture and care. The same number are learning more about foods. Fourteen are students in a course on furniture repair and 13 are adding to their knowledge of machine shop work.

The board of education also heard reports made by two visitors from the state department of public instruction. Miss Martha E. Black visited the four teachers of the mentally handicapped and the speech correctionist on Jan. 19-20. She complimented the work being done in the grade schools and the junior high school. She recommended that another teacher be employed in the high school.

"We are certainly interested in what Mr. Garrison is doing at the high school level. It certainly looks like a fine job. Apparently, there will be more youngsters in that program next year than one teacher can handle."

C. R. Wright, after an inspection tour of the high school vocational N. Y., Mr. Cannon was the son of Charles Edwy and Lucinda Burton Cannon. On July 4, 1898, he was married to Nina E. Swain in this city. She died on April 23, 1943.

Arenzville — Ashland, Chapin, Meredosia and the host club won the right to continue in the Arenzville grade school cage tourney yesterday afternoon and evening by annexing wins from the Bluffs, So. Jacksonville, Beardstown and Our Saviour's kid cagers in the first-round of elimination play.

Ashland Whips Bluffs

Ashland started the ball rolling in the meet at 2:30 p.m. by grabbing a 33 to 18 win from the Bluffs crew. DeGroot was high gunner for the winners with 10 markers. N. Little led Bluffs with 8 points.

Chapin Tops So. Jacksonville

Illini Takes Big 9 Lead In Scoring; Ohio State Second

Chicago, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Illini's 1949 Big Nine basketball team, with a 6-1 record, is the highest scoring outfit in the western conference. But only one of its players has ever scored as much as 20 points in a conference game, and only one Illini ranks in the 10 leading individual scorers in the Big Nine.

After seven conference games, Coach Harry Combes' Illinois squad is averaging 59.1 points to top the Big Nine. The Illini hit their peak Monday night, defeating Northwestern, 85-66. Yet, their field goal shooting average is .277, third best, and forward Duke Eddleman is the only player to hit as many as 20 points, scoring those against Northwestern. Illinois' top scorer is guard Bill Erickson with 78 points, good enough for ninth in the individual scoring standings.

Illini's success depends upon group scoring. Erickson has scored 10 points or more in four games, hitting 17 twice; Eddleman has done the same thing in four games. Jimmy Marks has hit 10 or more in three games, scoring 13 twice; Burdette Thurby has a similar record, with a high of 13. Wally Osterkorn has hit 10 or better in two games with a high of 18.

Ohio State is the conference's No. 2 scoring team with a 58.9 average, followed by Purdue, 54.6. Minnesota remains the top defensive unit, having held its opponents to an average of 40.3. The Golden Gophers also remain the most accurate shooters, with a team mark of .329, followed by Ohio State with .322.

This Saturday's schedule again matches the top scoring teams in the Big Nine with Ohio State at Illinois. Michigan engages Indiana at Bloomington, Iowa is at Minnesota, Wisconsin is at Northwestern and Purdue is at Michigan State.

The six top Ivy scorers this season are Hankins, Winchester 143; Stuart, Winchester 90; Reynolds, Jerseyville 85; O'Donnell, Winchester 78; Milnes, White Hall 72, and Ballard, Roodhouse 70. All players mentioned above have played six games except Milnes who has played in 5 games. The Greenfield-White Hall fray which was postponed Feb. 28 due to bad weather will be played at White Hall Wednesday night, Feb. 23.

Coach Glenn Smith's Pittsfield

Seasiders won over a good Hannibal, Mo., 35-31 at Pittsfield Saturday night and got revenge for an earlier defeat. The return of Bob Sidwell to the starting lineup has helped Pittsfield and the Indians are going to be plenty tough by tourney time. They have won their regional the last three years running.

After being refused seats in an Anti-Slavery convention in London, Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton held a woman's right convention in Seneca Falls, N. Y.

Democratic City Candidates Hold Ward Meeting

John S. Wright, Democratic candidate for mayor, and his running teammates, Miss Vera H. Seaton and John Phillips, held their third ward meeting Wednesday night at Jefferson school.

M. Brooks Byus, chairman of the city committee, presided. Alderman James Flynn of the first ward spoke briefly. An Dixon and his orchestra entertained.

The candidate for mayor declared that all Democratic candidates are "running as a team." "We talked together and arrived at certain points of agreement on policy."

But it is his opinion, he asserted, that "the push and emphasis in connection with any civic improvements should come from the people. But it should not reach the point where the citizens are actually demanding additional services."

It is up pretty much for the people to decide, he declared, whether they want better surfaced streets and clean streets, whether they want trains blocking the progress of fire trucks and school children, and "whether they're in earnest for their demands for a water and light system free from politics."

The candidates will conclude their ward meeting at Washington school at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Amvet Auxiliary Selects Officers, Committee Heads

State police set up shop in Jacksonville Wednesday, with three shifts weighing and inspecting commercial trucks using the highways. The detail was still busy Thursday morning.

By midnight a total of 36 trucks had been arrested. Only two, both from out of the state, were guilty of axle overweight when checked on the scales at the Jackson Feed Mill. This figure represented a rapid decline in "heavy trucks" found when the campaign was begun Monday, Jan. 31.

The balance of the trucks arrested were guilty of weight exceeding license allowances, inadequate or no identification and absence of up-to-date safety inspection stickers. Inspections are necessary twice a year on May 1 and Nov. 1.

The campaign was launched after Illinois Road Commission engineers charged that speeding, overweight trucks were destroying the Illinois road network. Early in the campaign, as many as one-fifth of the trucks examined were found guilty of axle overweight. The present state law permits 18,000 pounds for a single axle, or 32,000 pounds for a tandem axle.

Only one truck, loaded with oranges and licensed in Florida, was still here Thursday morning. It was detained for both overlength and overload violations. Trucks are not permitted to move overweight axle loads until part of the cargo has been removed.

Sgt. Wellman Page, with four officers and two assistants, began the work at 9 a.m. Wednesday. Sgt. Howard Lascelles was in charge of the evening shift and Lt. John St. Stuper was carrying on the work Thursday morning.

The same crew weighed trucks at Woodson Tuesday.
